

Due to the current environmental conditions, my office is still operating with some minor modifications. Zoning applications are still being received either by mail, electronic mail or in person. If you are dropping off an application, a container has been provided as a drop off point.

No in person consultations are being conducted at this time. No on-site inspections, public hearings, etc., are being conducted unless it is deemed a life threatening condition which will be determined by municipal officials. We apologize for any inconvenience that this may cause.
